

gcp and tcp phases presented in nickel base superalloys - the paper gives a short description of intermetallic phases presented in cast and wrought nickel based superalloys generally the intermetallic phases presented in nickel based superalloys can be divided into three main groups i primary and secondary carbides ii gcp geometrically close packed and iii tcp topologically close packed, a solidification model for prediction of castability in - an analytical castability model for the nickel based superalloys is developed the model predicts the segregation temperature ranges and phase formation
